

Clear Blinds for Interactive Whiteboards

Interactive boards are big in schools at the moment, BUT what happens when you just want to use it as a whiteboard? Or what about when a supply teacher is standing in for you – do you want them to use your interactive? Or what about when you want to highlight something from the web and you can't use your interactive's drawing facilities at the same time? The answer is a Clear Blind. This is a large clear plastic sheet that rolls down when needed, hugging the IWB surface, allowing you to use it as a conventional whiteboard with drywipe markers. Attaches above board using two quick release brackets (included).
